A Child's Heart Speaks:
Surviving Sexual Abuse

Press Release

10 year old survivor shares his story with nationally known television talk show host

Boston, July 9, 2007 4:00 pm: “Joey” who is now 10 years old, shared his personal story today during an interview with author and daytime television personality Dr. Keith Ablow. The interview will air during this evening’s news.

At the age of 5, “Joey” ended his forced silence and disclosed the sexual abuse he was suffering each night while the family slept. At the hands of his 12 year old half-brother “Adam” - Joey was routinely raped, mentally tortured, and had several attempts made on his life.

“Joey” and his mother, Claire told their story, which is documented in the recently published book, A Child's Heart Speaks: Surviving Sexual Abuse. Their goal is to educate parents about juvenile perpetrators. Inspired to help other children, their parents, and adult survivors, “Joey” and Claire have decided to tell their story.
